

POSTULATE: Segment addition postulate

Suppose a line segment has endpoints A and C, and point B is on the segment somewhere between the endpoints. Then, the sum of the distance AB between points A and B and the distance BC between points B and C equals the distance AC between points A and C.

Space for notes: